BEAUTIFUL CONFIDENT SMILES

Invisalign First Information Sheet

New to Invisalign First? Then let's get you sorted with everything you need to know about this treatment that improves children's smiles as they grow.

Why Invisalign First?

As a child grows, their smile grows with them. Even with baby teeth it may be the perfect time for children ages 7 – 10 to start orthodontic treatment. This is called Phase I treatment.

At this stage, your orthodontist can see issues that may benefit from early treatment to address developing problems. Invisalign First aligner treatment is designed for predictable results and a positive experience while addressing the unique needs to growing children.

Is Invisalign First treatment right for my child?

Invisalign First clear aligners can treat a range of issues during your child's development. Your orthodontist will advise if Invisalign First treatment is suitable for your child's specific needs.

Invisalign First aligners are:-

- Designed to treat a broad range of teeth straightening issues in growing children, from simple to complex, including crowding, spacing and narrow dental arches
- Removable for easy hygiene, making it easier for growing children to brush and floss
- Designed for comfort – which means no discomfort from rubbing brackets or poking wires

What happens during Invisalign First treatment?

While every child's needs are different, here are some general guidelines about what to expect during Invisalign First treatment:

- All Invisalign First treatments commence by consulting with your child's orthodontist who will take photos, x-rays, and digital scan to help formulate a treatment plan.

- Your child's orthodontist will prescribe a treatment plan and Invisalign First aligners will be fabricated according to the prescribed treatment.
- A series of custom-made aligners will be given to your child, allowing them to change aligners themselves every week.
- Every six to twelve weeks, there will be an appointment with your child's orthodontist who will monitor treatment progress.

What are attachments?

Depending on treatment, some tooth movements may require 'attachments' to help the aligner grip the teeth.

Attachments are small pieces of enamel-coloured composite fixed to teeth by the orthodontist. The number of attachments varies according to the tooth movements required and not every tooth will have an attachment.

Prior to bonding of material, each tooth requiring an attachment, will be cleaned and prepared for the bonding process to ensure it bonds well. The attachments are then bonded onto teeth where they will remain until the conclusion of treatment.

The placement of attachments provides an anchor point which helps the Invisalign First aligner to grip and encourage a specific movement. Placement of an attachment depends on the tooth movement required. Attachments allow the aligner to direct its forces to the tooth more effectively than it could otherwise.

You may also notice small indentations or 'ridges' in your child's aligners. These are designed to assist with achieving a specific root movement. Whether these ridges are present will depend on each child's Invisalign First treatment plan.

What happens if my child breaks or loses an attachment?

In the event that an attachment is lost or broken, you should immediately contact your orthodontist and schedule an appointment to repair or replace it.

How often will my child see the orthodontist during Invisalign First treatment?

During Invisalign treatment, check up appointments are required every six to twelve weeks. This allows the orthodontist to monitor treatment progress, check the aligners are fitting well, and make any necessary adjustments.

When can my child move onto the next set of aligners?

There's no need to worry about when to move onto your next set of aligners. Your orthodontist will provide clear instructions about when to change your aligners. In most cases, aligners are changed every week unless your child's orthodontist advises otherwise.

How long before I see results?

Another benefit of the Invisalign First system is that results are more easily visible sooner. Being able to see results makes it easier for your child to stay positive about treatment.

Can I have all my aligners at once?

Your child will be provided with all aligners at the beginning of treatment.

Will I need elastics?

Depending on your child's specific needs, elastics may be prescribed as part of their treatment plan. Your child's orthodontist will advise you both on how to wear elastics and how often they need to be changed.

Do I wear aligners all day?

Invisalign First clear aligners are comfortable, which make them very easy to wear. For treatment to stay on track, it's essential aligners are worn a minimum of 22 out of 24 hours each day. This means removing them only for eating and cleaning. Adhering to this protocol will see you reach your treatment goals faster.

How do I insert the clear aligners?

The orthodontist will show your child how to insert the clear aligners and remind you of the following tips to keep in mind each time:

- Wash hands before handling aligners and handle only one aligner at a time.
- Rinse aligners well when removing from packaging.
- Ensure you have the correct aligner, noting there is one specifically for top teeth (engraved with a "U" for upper) and one for bottom teeth (engraved with an "L" for lower).
- Either aligner may be inserted first.
- When inserting each aligner, gently push the aligner over the front of teeth and then apply equal pressure with fingertips to the tops of the left and right molars (back teeth) until the aligner clicks into place.
- Do not bite aligners into place as this may cause damage.

If you notice a sharp pain or have significant discomfort, discontinue using the aligners and contact your orthodontist immediately.

How should aligners be removed?

Removing aligners is easy, although it is important to maintain personal hygiene. Follow these steps for best results:

- Wash hands before handling aligners and handle only one aligner at a time.
- On one side of your mouth, use your fingertip on the inside of your back molar to slowly pull the aligner from the molars (back teeth).

- Repeat this process on the other side before completely removing the aligner.
- Once the aligner is disengaged from the molars on both sides of your mouth, slowly work your way forward and pry the aligner away from the teeth.

Other things to keep in mind when removing aligners:

- Immediately rinse the aligner with water, shake off excess water, and store aligners in their protective case.
- Avoid unnecessary removal of aligners to prevent damage.
- Take care when removing aligners, particularly if multiple attachments are being used.
- Do not use excessive force to bend or twist an aligner.
- Do not use any sharp object when removing.

If you experience any difficulties with the removal of aligners, be sure to consult your orthodontist. It's important you feel confident with this process as it will impact on treatment outcomes.

What's the best way to clean aligners?

Cleaning aligners can be integrated into your daily oral hygiene routine. Clean aligners using a soft toothbrush with water before inserting them into your mouth. Aligners should be rinsed with water after each cleaning, and it is recommended aligner cleaning products are used once weekly or as needed. Remember to rinse, brush and floss teeth after each meal and prior to reinserting aligners to maintain oral hygiene.

What oral hygiene should I be aware of during Invisalign First treatment?

Correct oral hygiene is a must during Invisalign First treatment. Follow these oral hygiene essentials for the best results:

- Remove aligners before eating and drinking (with the exception of cold water).
- Brush and floss teeth after each meal or snack prior to reinserting aligners. If no cleaning system or toothbrush is available, simply rinse your mouth, and clean aligners by holding them under cool running water. Be sure to thoroughly clean aligners as soon as possible.
- Maintain regular dental check and cleans during treatment as this will help ensure your child's smile remains healthy.

If you have any questions regarding oral hygiene techniques, please consult with your orthodontic team.

Are there any food restrictions during Invisalign First treatment?

Invisalign First treatment provides great flexibility in terms of food. Children can enjoy the same diet during treatment because aligners are removed while eating and drinking. This means there is no need to abstain from favourite foods or drinks unless advised by your orthodontist. Brushing and flossing after each meal and prior to reinserting aligners is highly recommended.

Will wearing aligners affect my speech?

As with all orthodontic treatments, Invisalign aligners may temporarily affect the speech of some people, however this is likely to last only a couple of days. As your child's tongue adjusts to the aligners, any effects caused by the aligners should disappear. For more information on how to overcome this issue, please contact your orthodontist to adapt more quickly to wearing aligners.

Is Invisalign First treatment painful?

While Invisalign First treatment may move teeth without the pain and anxiety of other straightening methods, some children do experience temporary, minor discomfort for a few days at the beginning of each new stage of treatment. This is normal and is typically described as a feeling of pressure, and is a sign the Invisalign First aligners are working. Discomfort usually passes within a couple of days after inserting the new aligner.

What should I do if my aligner is lost or broken?

If aligner is lost or broken, contact the practice as soon as possible. Depending on your child's circumstances, the orthodontist may recommend temporarily reverting to the previous stage while a replacement is made. For this reason, it may be helpful to keep the most recently used aligners as back up.

My orthodontist mentioned retention. What is this?

Retention is an important part of every Invisalign First treatment plan and is designed to help prevent your teeth from moving out of alignment again. We will fabricate clear, removable retainers which are similar to Invisalign First aligners and can be worn to hold teeth in the desired position.
